OUR PROGRAMS

Egg Donor and Sperm Donor

What is gamete or embryo donation? Gamete and embryo donation is using eggs, sperm, or embryos from someone else in order to help an intended parent(s) have a child. Intended parent is the term used for the person(s) who will raise the child(ren). Why would this be done? Gamete or embryo donation makes it possible to have a child when...

IVF Treatment

IVF or 'in-vitro' treatment means 'in glass', which is where the term 'test tube baby' originates. However, no test tubes are actually involved in the process. It seems deceptively simple to mix sperm and eggs together until the eggs are fertilized, but it requires closely controlled laboratory conditions and skilled embryologists to maintain. Once the eggs are fertilized, the embryos...

Surrogacy Program

A surrogate is someone who agrees to carry a pregnancy for another person or couple, giving birth to a baby who has no genetic connection and will be raised by the intended parent(s). Taking on such a vital role means merging your best interests with those of the family you are going on this journey for. Rising to the top...
